The building is more than a museum - the exhibits illustrate the important upbringing, education, marriage, travels, coronation and subsequent rule of the current Bruneian head of state. ✧ Maritime Museum - Items exhibited in the well-presented shipwreck gallery include ceramics and glassware from China, Vietnam and Thailand, which would have been brought to Brunei to exchange for local products including spices, rattan, sago and camphor. ✧ Malay Technology Museum - Take a look at the architectural details of stilt houses (as seen in Kampong Ayer) dating from late 19th to mid 20th centuries. You can also delve into some of Brunei's most famous handicrafts, like kain tenunan, their prized art of brocade-weaving, as well as gold-and-silver-smithing, brass-casting and more. ✧ Water Village: Kampong Ayer is a cluster of around 40 small villages connected by a 38-kilometer (23-mile) boardwalk. It is the world's largest settlement on stilts. Experience a short water taxi ride to visit a local host where you can enjoy refreshments and observe their culture & lifestyle. ✧ Sultan Omar Ali Saifuddin Mosque: is an exclamation point above the Brunei River, completed in 1958 and is an impressive example of Islamic architecture. It is built on an artificial lagoon on the bank of the river by the 28th Sultan of Brunei.
